Annex to the note verbale dated 6 August 2009 from the Permanent Mission of Israel to the United Nations addressed to the Chairman of the Committee

The State of Israel considers Iran to be a serious threat to international peace and security. Iran's ongoing non-compliance with its international obligations, including International Atomic Energy Agency requirements and Security Council resolutions, should be a matter of great concern to the peoples in the Middle East and the international community. Israel attributes great importance to the adoption of additional Security Council resolutions which will reflect the gravity of Iran's non-compliance concerning its nuclear programme and enable the international community to take concrete steps in that regard, as well as in regard to its central role as a source of arms smuggling to terrorists.

This report is supplementary to the report submitted by the Government of the State of Israel on the implementation of Security Council resolution 1737 (2006) and 1747 (2007).

Israel would like to reiterate its full support for Security Council resolutions 1737 (2006) and 1747 (2007), along with resolution 1803 (2008), and reiterates its full commitment to the implementation thereof.

Israel does not have diplomatic relations with Iran. No transactions or transfers involving goods, services and technology referred to in resolutions 1737 (2006), 1747 (2007) and 1803 (2008) have taken place between Israel and Iran nor any other activities restricted under these resolutions.

Inasmuch as Security Council resolution 1803 (2008) expands on the provisions of Security Council resolutions 1737 (2006) and 1747 (2007), the Israeli Government has issued instructions to the competent Israeli authorities to implement, in accordance with their respective mandates, the additional requirements set out in detail in paragraphs 3, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 of resolution 1803 (2008).

The Israeli Government has circulated the text of resolution 1803 (2008) to the relevant authorities, together with a reference to its requirements and the additions it makes to the two previous resolutions, with a view to ensuring the implementation of the obligations contained therein.
